

No evidence of attack on Capitol policeman ... "direct cause of injuries remain unknown" ... family asks media to stop politicizing death ... VERY FAKE NEWS

“ He was taken to a hospital, where he died at 9:30 p.m. Thursday, police said.

“ According to sources familiar with the matter, authorities believe Sicknick's death was driven by a medical condition. They're also investigating reports that he was attacked with a fire extinguisher or another item at the Capitol, sources said. So far, reports of an attack haven't been confirmed and authorities are hoping to locate video or other imagery from the scene.

“ Sicknick's family said in a statement, "Many details regarding Wednesday's events and the direct causes of Brian's injuries remain unknown and our family asks the public and the press to respect our wishes in not making Brian's passing a political issue."

But look at the HEADLINE:

Federal murder probe opened for Capitol Police officer Brian Sicknick who died following riots

This is what I have told people from day one. No one yet knows the exact circumstances of his death. Some ass hat nobody was screaming on NBC that he quote "had his brains bashed out", something that was not true. The NBC talking head just nodded and agreed with them. He collapsed back at the station some time later.

Everyone should spread this far and wide. The whole thing was a lie and a setup. 4 unarmed Americans are dead from a peaceful protest. And officers allowed people into the Capitol by Antifa. Unfortunately, some protesters also took the bait but they casually strolled the capitol. It violent.

52 According to Forbes, the other three are:

- Benjamin Phillips: died of a stroke, circumstances unclear
- Kevin Greeson: died of a heart attack, family said he had a history of high blood pressure
- Rosanne Boyland: died of an "undisclosed medical emergency" this is the one the news keeps speculating was trampled to death

I've heard claims the first two men had their medical conditions triggered because of tear gas but no solid proof of either.

During Trumps address there was a medical emergency. The police/secret service retrieved someone from the crowd and it was mentioned someone was having a stroke. They were taken from the crowd on a stretcher to the ambulance in the rotunda. Could be related.

There was an incident in a tunnel stairwell. A youtuber I know was in there, and he believes that's where one person died. He also believes they were trying to kill them with the gas they were using in such a tight, enclosed space. CitizenManTV. He did a video the night after it happened and did a stream with the lady friend he was there with. It was harrowing.

26 Let's be fair here: we know one was shot and one had a history of heart issues and died of a heart attack. The other two's causes of death, at least as far as I've seen, haven't been reported on.

We know they shot one, and that's already one too many. We don't need to politicize the other two before the facts are out.

12 No they aren't. Think about what kind of people make it through the hiring process. They've got to be indoctrinated leftists. Does anyone really believe that anyone with conservative, anti-communist values is going to make it through the screening? Remember when Clapper said he was surprised that voting for a communist didn't disqualify him from hiring on at the CIA? That right there tells you that these agencies have been infiltrated for a LOOOOONG time.

This perfectly explains why there have been ZERO FBI whistleblowers sounding the alarm about the illegal spying on candidate and then President Trump and Team Trump....or the Biden family's corruption, or the fraudulent impeachment, or this upcoming impeachment.

Anyone who they think might do the right thing probably never makes it through the interview process at the FBI. If you had told me this 5 years ago, I would tell you to get more tin foil for your hat. Now, it's very clear.

There is a much longer video on streamable HERE. What the vids above and below don't show is that (edited to cut out early), while some dudes were trying to get their hits in, many were actually trying to pull him further down to get him out of the melee and get him on his feet.

Some tried to take his helmet before another protestor took it back and placed it back on the cops head. Once on his feet, some dipshits tried to get in some cheap shots and were called out and pushed back.

The sweet irony is, while he was pulled out by dipshits who tried to gang up on him, pulling him out of that chokepoint put him in a safer position 2 min later. That being said, obviously people got amped up and made his evac slower than he would have liked.

Some people said he was but tazed...but i don't see him ever get tazed or anybody go for his service weapon(s). Besides, with all that riot gear i wonder if a tazer leads could have penetrated and done anything.

5 Thanks for the link. They haven't confirmed that that's the cop who died. It's still pretty brutal. When mob mentally takes over, everyone's IQ drops.

As disgusting as that was to watch, that shit happens at more types of protests nowadays. I'm not going to condone beating a cop, but don't act like the left burning down the country for four years is any different.

8 MAKE ME.

It's called context. Stop trying to remove it from the conversation you fucking faggot. Let me paraphrase every conversation with a lazy leftist.

You: "This is unprecedented. You and your supporters are uniquely bad and should face the harshest of punishments because of the slippery slope we now face"

Me: "You've set the precedence, this is actually super common and not unique at all, as you've faced no punishment for the exact same behavior"

You: "whataboutism"

Seriously, try having a real world conversation where you don't get to analyze everything in

He was a member of the Capital Police, not DC Metro Police.

It is also not Metro Police's fault that protestors got into the Capital. The Mall area and Capital all fall under Park Police and Capital Police jurisdiction. They hit this flat footed because they grossly underestimated the crowd turnout, by a factor of 7. With as many people as they had their and their mood, anti-scale fencing should have been installed at the Capital.

Realize that had the sides been reversed, mutual aid requests to Metro PD would not have been answered. They did nothing in June to stop riots and looting in their own jurisdiction just north of the White House.

escorted him out - he was never in any danger. This video is misleading - it was just after they pulled him out and the crowd right there was fighting to get inside for hours and got excited. Nothing fatal, not even close. We are being lied to - no way we're any patriots going to let anything bad happen to cops. It was intense but wasn't lethal. Not by a long shot.

1 I don't think we have any way to know. Some of the more violent people there could have been antifa, or not. I know if they wanted to make this a violent event for the headlines it would have been very easy for them to do, so I wouldn't put it past them (we know what they are capable of). I also know our side was pissed, so violence from us wouldn't surprise me here, in fact it was predictable. They definitely allowed it to escalate though, as if on purpose, since it would have been easy for the police to keep people back if they actually tried (and they knew about this for weeks). The left controls the police, so that's not surprising. My reaction: this is what happens when you ignore the legitimate fact based concerns of millions of people.

I have questions. This video is too short, and there are many people doing very different things.

- What happened right before this clip started?
- Was this cop in an altercation with protestors?
- Did he fall down or stumble?
- Was it a result of protestors actions or an accident/medical?
- The protestors that dragged him don't seem to be attacking him, so what are they doing?
- Are they administering aid to the officer for some reason?
- The dude beating him with a flag as he is dragged by, who is he?
- Why was he beating the cop? Own volition or incitement from others nearby?
- Who is the cop, and what happened to the officer after this clip ended?

▼ yeah I agree. The only thing that stood out to me was the crowd pulling back an older man with a head injury at the beginning of the clip (0:06-0:14), so I thought perhaps the incident was in response to that. You can also hear a man shout "don'r hurt the police officer. Don't hurt him." at 1:26-1:29, but it's unclear what happens after that.
